

PRIVACY POLICY

Beyond Encryption Ltd ("We" / "Us") are committed to respecting your privacy and the confidentiality of your personal data, usage data and communications content.

This privacy policy, together with our 'Acceptable Use Policy', our 'End User Licence Agreement/Business Terms' and any other documents referred to on it, sets out the basis on which any personal data We collect from you, or that you provide to Us, will be processed by Us. Please read the following carefully to understand our views and practices regarding your personal data and how We will treat it. By visiting www.besecuremail.com (the "Website") you are accepting and consenting to the practices described in this policy.

References in this notice to "data protection law" mean (as applicable) the Data Protection Act 1998, the General Data Protection Regulation (Regulation (EU) 2016/679) and all related data protection legislation having effect in the United Kingdom from time to time.

References in this notice to "personal data" or "information" include "sensitive personal data" and "special categories of data" (as defined under data protection law) where applicable.

GENERAL INFORMATION

This privacy policy sets out our current data processing practices. If you have any queries or concerns regarding these practices, please contact us at enquiries@beyondencryption.com

For the purposes of data protection law, Beyond Encryption Limited (company number 08814096), having its registered office at 1 Gloster Court, Fareham, Hants, PO15 5SH is the data controller.

THE INFORMATION WE COLLECT AND HOW WE USE IT

Information we collect from you

When you create an account with us and use our service, we gather and use the following information about you:

- Registration/Identification: When you register for Maillock at www.BEsecuremail.com, we collect personal identification information (such as your name, mobile number, postal and email addresses). We will also collect electronic identification data such as IP address, cookies. We will also ask you for information regarding the technology required to use the service.
- Marketing: On occasion, we may also ask you for other personal information in connection with surveys, sweepstakes or other promotional offers running on our site but your participation in these features is purely voluntary.

If you work for one of our suppliers, resellers, or other business partners, we may collect your contact details, such as name, email address, work address and phone number.

Information we collect about you

While on our site, we automatically log certain information about how you're using our site. This information may include the URL that you came from (source data), your IP address and the pages you visit while on our site.

When you use our site, one of our applications or access a file sent using our service, the following data about these processes is stored in a database (for technical and statistical purposes only):

- Name of file accessed
- Date and time of access
- Volume of data transferred
- Notification whether file was successfully accessed
- Browser type
- Requesting domain
- Country of origin of requesting domain
- Recipient details
- Mobile numbers when we turn on 2FA
- Security questions when we develop this functionality

Information we collect from third parties

We engage the services of third party analytics providers to track and analyse usage and volume statistical information from our users and visitors to our site. We may also place a pixel on pages on our site, or those of our partners. This enables us to record in our server logs that a specific user ID has visited a particular page. This data allows us to analyse and determine our audience's behavioural characteristics, which helps us to optimise our site.

We may also use third parties to provide services in connection with sales on our site, such as payment service providers and credit reference agencies and we may receive information about you from them.

What do we process your information for?

If you are a customer our primary purpose in collecting information is to provide you with a safe, efficient, personalised experience. We collect and use personal data relating to you as permitted or necessary to:

- provide the best possible secure email service, delivering relevant content to you when you are on our website and providing a more efficient, customised and seamless experience when using our service.
- verify your identity.

- reference your purchase and delivery history, invoice you and manage your account with us;
- provide you with customer support.
- inform you about service updates, faults and changes to our terms of use and privacy policy.
- request feedback or participation in online surveys.
- measure, customise and improve the service based on customer and site analytics.
- send you information about our secure email service.
- notify you about changes to our email service.
- organise and carry out other marketing and promotional campaigns and offers about our service.
- protect both your and our interests, including to enforce our Acceptable Use Policy.

If you are a supplier, reseller or other business partner:

- to contact you to transact business with your firm or company, including paying you commission or collecting payments due from you, placing orders with you and managing our account with you or your account with us.

Whether you are a customer, supplier, reseller or other business partner:

- to keep financial and other records relating to our business and our dealings with you and to comply with our regulatory and legal obligations.

WHAT ARE THE LEGAL GROUNDS FOR PROCESSING YOUR INFORMATION?

We are processing your data on the following legal grounds:

- you have consented to the processing for the purposes stated above (this may apply where you have applied to register with us and have agreed to receive emails about our promotions and product changes or newsletters);
- if you are a customer, because it is necessary for the performance of the contract between you and us. This includes where you have instructed us to take some pre-contractual steps prior to us formalising the contract.
- the processing is necessary for us to comply with our legal obligations, such as our obligations to keep accounting records and tax records.
- the processing is necessary for pursuing our legitimate interest of operating our business of operating the Maillock encrypted email service, improving our products and services and promoting the business. In accordance with data protection law, we have carefully weighed your interests and fundamental rights and freedoms against our interest to process your information and are satisfied that we are justified in processing your information for this purpose.

HOW LONG DO WE KEEP YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

We only keep your information for so long as it is reasonably necessary. When setting our data retention periods, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the information we hold, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of the information and the purposes for which we process the information (including whether we can achieve those purposes by other means). We also take into account our other legal obligations to keep or securely dispose of personal information.

Generally speaking, we retain your information for the following periods of time:

- if you are a customer and you have registered to use our service, we will keep your details for as long as you remain a customer, and for six years after you stop being a customer in case of any claims.
- If you have signed up to receive emails from us, we keep your information until you indicate that you no longer want to hear from us;
- if you are a supplier or retailer (or an employee of a supplier or retailer) then we keep your information whilst you (or your employer) remains a supplier or retailer, and for a reasonable period after that time in case we are likely to contact you again in the future.

If we need to keep your information for a longer period then we will notify you of the reason and grounds for doing so.

WHERE WE STORE YOUR INFORMATION

The data that we collect from you will be stored at a destination inside the European Economic Area ("EEA").

By submitting your personal data, you agree to this storing or processing. We will take all reasonable steps to ensure that your data is treated securely and in accordance with this privacy policy.

INFORMATION SHARING AND DISCLOSURE

We do not give, rent, lend or sell individual information to any third party for marketing purposes. Furthermore, we will not disclose any information about individual users, except as described below:

- We may disclose information with any member of our group, which means our subsidiaries, our ultimate holding company and its subsidiaries, as defined in section 1159 of the UK Companies Act 2006.
- Third party service providers: We may employ the services of third parties to aid us in certain aspects of our operations (such as site analytics, distribution of marketing and promotional materials such as email, conducting a survey and payment service providers). Depending on the services performed, some of these providers may be provided with user information. These contractors would be subject to data protection and confidentiality agreements, which limit their use and disclosure of all information they obtain through their relationship with Us, consistent with this policy.

- Recipients of the secure emails that you send: When you send a secure email using Us, your email address, name and the subject line of your email will be shared with your chosen recipient via The Service. The content of your email will be encrypted until your intended recipient has signed-in to their Maillock account and, optionally, answered a challenge set by you. Only then will the content of the email, including attachments be shared with the recipient.
- Legal requests: Beyond Encryption may disclose your personally identifiable information to protect the rights and property of Beyond Encryption as well as to comply with any applicable law or valid legal process. This includes, but is not limited to:
 - Requests by government agencies: we will disclose any information we have in our possession to law enforcement or government officials in response to any inquiry or investigation or if in our sole discretion, we believe it is necessary or appropriate in connection with any investigation or activity that is or may be illegal or may expose us or you to legal liability
 - Disclosures we are legally required or entitled to make under any enactment, rule of law or by the order of a court
 - Business Sale: In the event that Beyond Encryption sells any business or assets to a third party, we may disclose your personal information to the prospective purchaser.

SECURITY

Beyond Encryption is committed to protecting your personal information. All information that you provide to us is stored on our secure servers. Access to any personalised area of the site is password-protected for your privacy and security. While we do our best to protect your personal information Beyond Encryption cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to us, and you do so at your own risk.

What does all this mean? Just as in the real world, you must protect yourself. You are responsible for maintaining the secrecy of your passwords and/or any account information. If you need to change your password, please sign in to the site, go to your personal settings (the link is top-right of any page) and then make the necessary changes.

BROWSER COMMUNICATIONS ENCRYPTION

We employ SSL certificates with Extended Validation. This is currently the most secure certificate available. With this certificate more modern browsers are able to use 256-bit encryption and for older browsers it ensures that 128-bit encryption is possible. Click on the lock icon in your browser's status bar to learn more.

EXTENSIVE FIREWALLS

Access to our hosting infrastructure is protected by state of the art firewalls designed to prevent unauthorised access.

DATA

All your profile data is securely housed in an Internet server hosting space that provides enhanced physical security, fire protection and electronic shielding.

NETWORK INTRUSION DETECTION SYSTEMS

Network-based IDS (intrusion detection system) provides 24x7 network monitoring and alerts security personnel to any external attacks on the network.

USE OF COOKIES

By using Maillock's website you are giving your consent to the use of cookies. You can choose to reject cookies at any time, either by changing your browser settings (if your browser permits), by ceasing to use the website or by using the applicable opt-out functions. You should be aware that certain features are only available through the use of cookies and if you choose not to accept cookies these features may not be available to you.

Cookies are small files that contain a string of characters (text) that are sent to your browser from a website's server. The cookie may contain a unique identifier but it does not contain personally identifiable information such as your name or email address. The browser stores the cookie on your computer's hard drive and this may be accessed next time you visit the site.

We use cookies for a variety of purposes, including to:

- Automatically access your previously stored account information and preferences to deliver a more personalised service
- Provide customer and site analytics so that we can review and optimise the service based on things like usage patterns and audience size
- Initiate security measures such as 'time out' when you have been inactive on the site for a period of time

We don't recommend that you restrict or block cookies as this may impact the functionality of our website. However, if you are not sure you can find comprehensive information here <http://www.aboutcookies.org.uk/>

YOUR RIGHTS

Under data protection law you have the following rights:

- the right to access a copy of your information which we hold. This is called a 'subject access request'. Additional details on how to exercise this right are set out, below;
- the right to prevent us processing your information for direct marketing purposes. We will usually inform you (before collecting your data) if we intend to use your data for such purposes or if we intend to disclose your information to any third party for such purposes. You can exercise your right to prevent such processing by checking certain boxes on the forms we use to collect your data. You can also exercise the right at any time by contacting us using the details set out at the end of this privacy policy, below;
- the right to object to decisions being made about you by automated means. We do not make automated decisions about you based on your information. We will inform you if your information is subject to automated processing;
- the right to object to us processing your personal information in certain other situations;
- the right, in certain circumstances, to have your information rectified, blocked, erased or destroyed if it is inaccurate; and
- the right, in certain circumstances, to claim compensation for damages caused by us breaching data protection law.

From 25 May 2018 you will have the following additional rights under data protection law:

- enhanced rights to request that we erase, rectify, cease processing and/or delete your information; and
- in certain circumstances, the right to request the information we hold on you in a machine readable format so that you can transfer it to other services. This right is called 'data portability'. Additional details on how to exercise this right are set out below.

You also have the general right to complain to us (in the first instance) and to the Information Commissioner's Office (if you are not satisfied by our response) if you have any concerns about how we hold and process your information. Our contact details are set out at the end of this privacy policy, below. The Information Commissioner's Office website is www.ico.org.uk.

For further information on your rights under data protection law and how to exercise them, you can contact Citizens Advice Bureau (www.citizensadvice.org.uk) or the Information Commissioner's Office (www.ico.org.uk).

ACCESS TO INFORMATION

Under data protection law you can exercise your right of access by making a written request to receive copies of some of the information we hold on you. If you make your request before 25 May 2018, you will need to pay a £10 fee. You must send us proof of your identity, or proof of authority if making the request on behalf of someone else, before we can supply the information to you. Requests should be sent to us using the contact details at the end of this policy below.

From 25 May 2018 you will:

- no longer have to pay a £10 fee unless you are requesting copies of documents you already possess, in which case we may charge our reasonable administrative costs. We will also be allowed to charge you for our reasonable administrative costs in collating and providing you with details of the requested information which we hold about you if your request is clearly unfounded or excessive. In very limited circumstances, we are also entitled to refuse to comply with your request if it is particularly onerous; and
- in certain circumstances, be entitled to receive the information in a structured, commonly used and machine readable form.

CONSENT FROM CHILDREN

If you are aged 16 or under (or under 13 if you are in the United Kingdom), please get your parent/guardian's permission beforehand whenever you want to consent to us using your personal information. Users under this age are too young to consent.

CHANGES TO THIS PRIVACY POLICY

We may amend this privacy policy from time to time. If we make any substantive changes to this policy, we'll announce it on our site.

UNSUBSCRIBING FROM OUR MAILING LIST

If you register with Beyond Encryption or sign up for or buy any of our products or services from Us, we will send you information about our products and services. This will include communications relevant to the registration or account management process, use of the service and information about service updates, faults or changes to our privacy policy or acceptable use policy. We may also send you marketing and promotional communications. If you would rather not receive these marketing and promotional communications there will be a link at the bottom of each marketing newsletter, which will allow you to unsubscribe, or alternatively you can contact us at support@BeyondEncryption.com and we will help you.

DEACTIVATING YOUR ACCOUNT OR EDITING YOUR INFORMATION

You have the ability to edit your information and preferences at any time. If you want to correct or change the information in your profile, or any other information we have about you, please go to your profile page and make any changes there, or alternatively contact us for support. If you want to change your email address for delivery of your email subscriptions or unsubscribe, please adjust your email settings or contact us.
